SALES ACTIVITY

THE ART OF SELLING A PEN

A practical learning experience in communication, product knowledge and customer value

Product: Pen • 10 units sold • Total profit: ₹20

FIELD SALES LEARNING

Activity Overview

A simple product, a real customer interaction, and a practical sales lesson.

PRODUCT

Pen
A low-cost, everyday-use product that is easy to demonstrate.

ACTIVITY GOAL

Approach potential customers, explain the product, and complete sales confidently.

KEY LEARNING

Sales is more than a transaction: it is communication, trust, and customer value.

What we practised

- ✓ Starting a conversation politely
- ✓ Explaining why the product is useful
- ✓ Answering customer questions
- ✓ Closing the sale respectfully

Numbers Behind the Sale

Clear calculations help a salesperson understand the result of the activity.

₹5	₹07	₹2	10
Cost per pen	Selling price	Profit per pen	Pens sold

TOTAL INVESTMENT		TOTAL SALES		TOTAL PROFIT
$50	+	₹70	=	₹20

Profit = (Selling price − Cost price) × Quantity = (₹10 − ₹5) × 10 = ₹20

Our Simple Sales Process

A repeatable approach that can be used for many everyday products.

01

APPROACH

Greet the customer politely and confidently.

02

DISCOVER

Understand whether the customer needs a pen.

03

EXPLAIN

Share the price and useful features clearly.

04

CLOSE

Ask politely if they would like to buy one.

05

THANK

Thank the customer, whether they buy or not.

Remember: never pressure a customer. Be helpful, honest, and respectful.

5 Essentials of Successful Selling

The activity showed how small habits can make a big difference.

01 Communication

Speak clearly, listen carefully, and use polite language.

02 Grooming

Maintain a neat, professional appearance and positive body language.

03 Product Knowledge

Know the product, price, features, and how it is used.

04 Highlight Features

Focus on useful qualities that matter to the customer.

05 Customer Benefits

Explain how the product can solve a simple everyday need.

Simple, friendly, and focused on the customer's need.

“Hello! Would you like a pen? It is useful for everyday writing, taking notes, and filling in forms. The price is just ₹10. Would you like one?”

Why this pitch works Polite greeting • Clear price • Everyday benefit • Respectful question

Field Activity in Action

Real customer interactions helped turn classroom learning into practice.

Approach with confidence. Explain clearly. Thank every customer.

Key Takeaways & Conclusion

The most important outcome was the learning—not just the ₹20 profit.

WHAT I LEARNED

- Sales begins with communication
- Product knowledge builds confidence
- Benefits matter to customers
- Trust supports long-term relationships

WHAT I WILL DO NEXT

- Improve my opening conversation
- Ask questions to understand needs
- Explain value in simple words
- Practise respectful closing techniques

“Successful selling is not only about selling a product; it is about understanding needs and creating value.”

THANK YOU